EPSA Group acquires AI energy scale-up Energiency

March 6th, 2025, 10:00 CET - Energiency - a leader in energy analytics for manufacturing - has joined EPSA Group. Founded in 2013 by Arnaud Legrand and Aymeric Hervieu, Energiency supports international manufacturing companies in rapidly detecting & achieving new and sustainable energy and CO₂ savings thanks to its innovative SaaS technology mixing human and Artificial Intelligence (AI).

After a first investment in Energiency in 2023 and now with this new acquisition, EPSA Group, a recognized expert in operational and financial performance, further demonstrates its commitment to energy and data management as strategic axis of its future growth and positioning.

This new one-stop shop, mixing advanced technology, expert consulting, and financing solutions, erases barriers for faster adoption and enables manufacturers to faster maximize energy & CO₂ savings.

Arnaud Legrand, Founder & CEO Energiency: "We are delighted to join EPSA Group, a renowned player in performance consulting with a fast growth in Europe. Leveraging EPSA's wide ecosystem of solutions dedicated to energy management, opens new room for international market acceleration."

Godefroy de Colombe, CEO EPSA Group: "We are delighted to welcome Energiency as a key asset of our one-stop shop for Energy Performance. Thanks to Energiency's know-how in software & AI and its international footprint, EPSA strengthens and differentiates its positioning as both an Energy and Tech leader."

About Energiency

Energiency is an Industry 4.0 SaaS technology, leveraging AI and data analytics to empower manufacturing companies to detect and achieve up to 25% new energy & CO₂ savings within months.
